

Farzaneh Abravani is a dynamic international entrepreneur, global real estate developer, and immigration expert with a remarkable global journey spanning multiple industries and continents.

Farzaneh career began in the fashion industry, working alongside her mother in a tailoring business that not only designed and sold clothing but also empowered others by teaching them the craft.

In 1990, she moved to Dubai, UAE where her family established a new business in the fashion sector. During this time, she met with Mr. Ali Al Kamali and Mr. Ahmad Tavakol, who introduced her to the world of information Technology, database management, graphic designing, and programming. This transformative experience led her to master DOS programming, automation, and brochure design, ultimately shaping her future career on those days.

In 1995, she began working for a Canadian law firm in Dubai, gaining valuable experience that laid the foundation for her future in immigration consultancy. In 1997, as a single mother, she moved to Canada, where she earned her associate degree in legal studies, followed by a diploma as an immigration consultant. She then practiced in the legal field and later transitioned into immigration consultancy, helping 10,000 businessmen and families start new lives in different countries, making a lasting impact on their futures.

Her entrepreneurial global journey continued as she ventured into real estate, establishing a construction business focused on buying, renovating, and selling properties. She became a real estate developer and consultants, working with investment companies in Canada and the USA. Recognizing a need within the international community, she also founded a retirement home in Toronto, providing much-needed support to elderly residents.

Farzaneh has also supported and established 130 startups in Canada, some of which are currently running and thriving, creating opportunities and empowering people to succeed globally.

Her ambitions led her to the United States, where she embraced new challenges by establishing both an immigration consultancy and a real estate development company. She successfully developed multiple properties and founded a retreat center in California, demonstrating her ability to innovate and adapt across industries.

Despite her international success, her heart remained in Dubai. Recently, she returned, investing in real estate and development while raising her two children as a single mother. Passionate about resilience, entrepreneurship, and creating opportunities, she continues to build and shape the future, proving that determination and adaptability are the keys to success.

Farzaneh is a Canadian citizen, soon to be an American citizen too, and holds an Iranian passport. Through her extensive global experience in business, leadership, and real estate management and deloping , she is a true inspiration - an entrepreneur who refuses to give up, embraces challenges, and creates impact wherever she goes.
