

QUEEN SANDI RICH

A multiple award winner Sandi RICH Saksena is A Tor – Femtor, Editor, Negotiator, Motivator, Moderator, All that and more. She offers all of the above to people who want more out of their lives Money, Career, Relationships, Health Wellness.

A late entrant into the work force age 44, with no previous work experience she could not even prepare a CV!

She works with reputed financial services providers and law firms advising on financial independence, creating and protecting assets and inheritance. She serves as advisor, ambassador and president on various international women/youth leadership empowerment platforms and, as selection jury member for international awards.

Frequently quoted in the Business pages of the of local and international publications and media, a sought after speaker, host, moderator, jury member at International forums and conferences. Currently she is Editor in Chief of 2 publications that focus on business the Impactpreneur and a lifestyle sister magazine that focuses in health and wellness.